

New Process for the Collection of Assessments on Imported Softwood Lumber Covered under the Softwood Lumber Checkoff

Beginning July 1, 2020, the U.S. Customs and Border Protection will collect assessments on imported softwood lumber covered under the Softwood Lumber Checkoff.¹ To date, companies have been required to report and pay assessments directly to the Softwood Lumber Board (SLB).

What is the Softwood Lumber Checkoff?

- The Checkoff is a mandatory program authorized under U.S. law² that took effect in 2012.
- It is administered by the SLB with oversight by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
- The SLB is composed of industry members appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture.
- Under the Checkoff, assessments are collected from importers of record and U.S. manufacturers of softwood lumber.
- Assessments are used by the SLB for projects that promote market growth for softwood lumber products used in single and multi-family dwellings as well as commercial construction.
